Intensive Paramilitary Training for Former JOT's

1. At our last meeting concerning possible Training support for the Contingency Force we agreed to defer action with respect to a suggested, intensive, comprehensive package course in paramilitary operations which might be given to a selected group of former JOT's or other young case officers with at least one duty tour at an overseas station or base.

2. Meanwhile, suggestions about such a course have been made by this staff to the Chief, Operations School, OTR. In turn, our Chief, Field Training advises that [REDACTED] will set forth what it wishes the training product to be, Field Training will be glad to furnish their concept of the course required to turn out that product.

3. What this boils down to, of course, is just how knowledgeable or skilled is the "graduate" to be in each of the several operational, intelligence, and support techniques involved in paramilitary operations related to the Contingency Force mission?

4. We will appreciate further guidance from you prior to any further OTR action on this specific item.
